I want option E. The Parade back to how it was. My husband is a keen cyclist but says the cycle way is too dangerous. He has nearly been bowled over twice by cars either drivers pulling into their drives or parking. He has cycled from London - Paris over two days and neither had a problem. Having cycleway behind bus stops is also dangerous. Lower the zebra crossings and take away the humps in the shopping area.

Option E.

(baptist church, 31 July)

I was at the meeting recently and the majority of the community wanted option E.

Removal of the kerbs and the "millions" proposed to 'fix' a problem that NEVER existed is ludicrous. The road is too narrow, in some parts.

Revert it back to how it was!!! the cycleway previously was perfectly suitable. The cyclists ~~all~~ do not use the cycleway. It needs to be compulsory!! very frustrating when no-one is on the cycleway.

- ① My preferred option is option (E), but this has not been completely worked through. Unfortunately it appears concerns around safety make it impossible to return to the status quo.
- ② I have therefore gone, reluctantly, with (C) as this puts the cyclists above road level, so improving their safety. Cars parked "in the middle of the street" will now at least be parking adjacent to a curb.
- ③ (A) shifts cars back to the more natural place against the curb, but puts cyclists at risk again.
- ④ (B) A curb between parked cars & cyclists has the disadvantage of making it hard for cyclists to overtake each other (eg Ilam Rd in Christchurch), as well as making a dangerous obstacle for cyclists to fall on to.
- ⑤ I really like the attempt to maintain angle parking in the shopping centre, as I think the loss of 17 parks (close to half of all) will be detrimental to local business and hence to the sense of community. BUT (D) which is the only one to keep angle parking does this by reducing both foot paths and therefore destroying the very areas where people meet and chat - so essential for a community.
- ⑥ There needs to be an effort to provide off street parking to replace that which is to be lost.

Option E. The Residents Association and Business Reps proposal.

1. Reseal the parade approx. cost $280,000.00 based on Council figures for 2016 where they spent $9.5million resealing 68km of road.
2. Move the bus stops back to where they were, this involve breaking up the kerb extensions the Council put on and re kerbing approx. half a km of the parade.
3. Put unmarked car parking back against the kerb, no markings equate to more carparks.
4. Clearly paint using green or another colour a cycleway on the roadside of parked cars, increasing the width by .5 of a metre from the original cycleway design.
5. In the shopping centre retain the current shared space and carparks.
6. Look at reducing the speed limit along the parade.
7. Remove the speed humps around the shopping centre and lower the height of the pedestrian crossings.
8. Retain pedestrian crossings on the parade.

To be confirmed but and indicative costing would be no more than $750, 000.00 thousand.

Preference for kerbside cycle lane, particularly as a family with young children, feel much safer cycling out of the way of cars that may pull unexpectedly out of parking spaces.

Option C provides for a slightly wider roadway than B and therefore has a slight advantage over B in this respect.

Very keen to see the Island Bay lane extended North to improve the commuter route into town.

Separating cyclists from traffic flow is great for cyclists and for traffic which flows better without the lower speed cyclists breaking the flow.

OPTION E is the one for me!

I support the Island Bay Residents Association option E proposal.

This would see the cars parked back at the kerbside and the cycleway back where it used to be, on the road side of the parked cars.

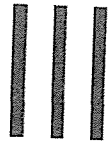

I would also like to see the bus stops returned to their original positions and the Tamar St. bus Stop Back!

The parade is the gateway to the South Coast, it should be wide and welcoming, not the obstacle course that it is at present. It needs to be returned to its former beauty. A.S.A.P.

- To have car parks removed from the business area would have drastic outcomes. Already a dairy is struggling because of the removal of a car park
- As it is and the options given it will still be dangerous coming out of streets such as Humber onto the parade
